Connex One Platform Implementation

“ If you are looking for a solution that will improve your contact centre then look no further. Even if you take away how amazing the solution is in itself, the team at Connex One are experts in their industry and have so much knowledge that will improve your business just by working with them. It’s such a great solution, I wish we found it sooner. ”

Overview

Homeshield Direct

Homeshield Direct are a leading home appliance and kitchenware insurance company. Founded in 2016, the company has experienced a rapid growth period, and now employ over 100 staff in 4 centres. Homeshield Direct offer their customers complete peace of mind in a chaotic and competitive market space, by deploying expert engineers to wherever they are needed in the UK to fix or replace a vast range of appliances. As a family business, they approach everything they do with great care and attention to detail, more than just providing insurance, Homeshield Direct are building a reputation for delivering great customer service.

The Challenge

Recognising that their existing solution was outdated, Homeshield Direct knew it was imperative to upgrade to a modern, agile Cloud Contact Centre solution to keep up with their rapidly expanding business.

Goals

To meet the challenge and their high standards for customer service, it quickly became clear that Homeshield Direct needed a platform that could allow for real time and in depth reporting, as well as to be able to analyse multiple metrics at the same time. Flexibility and the the ability to have full control over the system was a key requirement. Particularly, the capacity to run multiple campaigns, tailored for specific teams is an essential component for Homeshield Direct's business model. The system also needed to be quickly adopted by the agents, with minimum training and therefore a clean and simple interface was fundamental for ease of agent navigation and use. Operationally it was also imperative that pricing be competitive and the system be scalable so that the solution can grow and adapt as Homeshield Direct's needs change and a support team that Homeshield Direct could rely on if anything went wrong.

The Solution

Homeshield Direct selected Connex One as their provider based on its ability to match all their key criteria as well as additional benefits and functionality including gamification, dashboarding and contact organisation. The secure cloud-based Connex One platform quickly showed its value by providing a seamless integration for multiple areas of the business as well as fulfilling the needs of all stakeholders from Directors to agents.

“From the interface to the reporting suite, the customisable settings to the reduced wait times. We could only see improvements once switching to Connex One”
